Networking in Medical Care – Ärztliche Zusammenarbeit zum Wohle des Patienten

Mit Bedacht haben wir dieses Thema zum 72. Homöopathischen Weltärztekongress gewählt. Die Homöopathie kann sehr viel, sie kann aber nicht alles. Wir wollen und müssen deshalb auch immer mit anderen medizinischen Disziplinen kooperieren, deshalb fordern und praktizieren wir die ärztliche Zusammenarbeit zum Wohle des Patienten und rufen auf zum Dialog.

Zu einigen Krankheitsbildern haben wir erfahrene Kliniker eingeladen, um die unterschiedlichen Ansätze der konventionellen Medizin, der Homöopathie, aber auch der Naturheilkunde, der Anthroposophie oder des Ayurveda zu diskutieren. Ich freue mich, Sie im Juni 2017 in Leipzig zu begrüßen!

Herzliche Grüße,

Angelika Gutge-Wickert
Ärztin und Apothekerin / Medical Doctor and Pharmacist
Kongresspräsidentin / Congress President

Networking in Medical Care – Collaboration for the Benefit of the Patient

It is with great diligence that we have chosen the theme for the 72nd Homeopathic World Medical Congress. Homeopathy can do a lot, but not everything. We therefore want and need to always cooperate with other medical disciplines as well. This is why we demand and why we practice medical collaboration – for the benefit of the patient.

We have invited experienced experts to report on a number of clinical pictures and discuss the different approaches of conventional medicine and of homeopathy, but also of naturopathy, anthroposophy and of Ayurveda.

We look forward to welcoming you in Leipzig!

Kind regards,

WELCOME TO LEIPZIG

Leipzig bietet für den homöopathischen Weltärztekongress aus vielerlei Gründen beste Voraussetzungen. Samuel Hahnemann begann hier 1775 sein Medizinstudium, 1811 kehrte der Begründer der Homöopathie in die Stadt zurück, lehrte an der Universität und führte eine Praxis. 1821 verließ Hahnemann Leipzig und ließ sich in Köthen nieder. 1851 wurde das Hahnemann-Denkmal in Leipzig enthüllt, das heute noch besichtigt werden kann.

Von Leipzig aus lassen sich auch andere Orte besuchen, an denen Hahnemann gewirkt hat: Meißen, die Geburtsstadt; Torgau, dort schrieb er das Organon; Köthen, hier veröffentlichte er „Die chronischen Krankheiten“, der Deutsche Zentralverein homöopathischer Ärzte (DZVhÄ) wurde hier ins Leben gerufen und heute ist es der Sitz der LMHI im Hahnemann-Haus.

Leipzig offers best conditions for the Homeopathic World Medical Congress 2017 – for many reasons. In Leipzig Samuel Hahnemann began his medical university education in 1775. He returned in 1811 to open his medical practice and to give lectures at the Leipzig University. Ten years later, in 1821, Hahnemann left Leipzig to settle down in Köthen (Anhalt). The Hahnemann Monument in Leipzig, unveiled in 1851, has been restored and can still be visited today.

Leipzig is the ideal starting point for excursions to other places where Hahnemann left his traces: Meissen, his birthplace; Torgau, where he wrote the “Organon of the Rational Art of Healing”; Köthen, where he lived from 1821 to 1835 and where the DZVhÄ was founded in 1829. Today, also the LMHI has its statutory seat in Köthen. Therefore the governance meetings of the LMHI will take place in the European Library of Homeopathy.

Während des Kongresses finden Exkursionen nach Meissen, Torgau und Köthen statt.

The congress will be rounded off by excursions to Meissen, Torgau and Köthen.
